ALSO FOR ALL

Consumers of Ink.

The undersigned begs to inform the highly respected community of this city and the country, that he has established ad an

INK MANUFACTORY.

No. 50, Calle 25 de Mayo.

And is prepared to sell as good Ink, as any made in any part of the globe, and warranted to retain its beautiful jet black color which it has at the moment when used, at 50 p.$ less than the same can be bought at any other houses.

People under the impression, that they pay their $20 upc for a quart bottle of English ink, can have the same proved, that most of the I. sold for English, is made in this country, and imposed upon the public as such. But I am not ashamed to put my own Name on the labels, being fully convinced that my Ink is of a much superior quality, and possesses more virtues than most of the Inks.

I—It is of a very rich black at the moment when used.

II.—Retains its color.

III—Runs freely off the pen.

IV.—A preserver of the eyes to those who have much to write at night because it is not so glossy as other, very overright, to see what they have written.

For the reasons exploined, I hope that my prejudice generally entertained against Home Manufacture will be laid aside, and I ask it, to try the same which will be a benefit to the buyer, and the country, in assisting Home Industry.

N.B.—Recollect it at the office will be constantly attended to and delivered free of any charges.

FRIDAY, APRIL 10, 1868.

TALENTS MISAPPLIED.

It is generally the case with young nations, as with school boys, that their genius and endowments require a master-mind to shape their course, without which much of the good seed is lost, and the rest turned to little benefit. In Buenos Ayres there is sufficient intelligence to produce great results, but the market of progress is overstocked with some commodities, while there is an absolute lack of others.

Hector Varela spoke truly to Lamartine, in supposing the press a criterion of national advancement; and the French sage, who knew more of Buenos Ayres than the Consul-general himself, made valiant running allusion to the absence of indigenous literature in these countries. We have too many journalists in this city, and too few authors. If we enter the State library, we do not find six individuals improving their mind, whereas the thirst for literature is so great that young gentlemen, just learning to smoke, and ranging from 10 to 16 years, trouble the public with their incubations. The Estudiante, Biblioteca, and Nacela, are but a few of the periodicals edited by this class, and we question it the dogmatisers have yet crossed the Asses' bridge, or acquired the names of the Aristotles, capitals. There is a certain age and fund of science required for surgeons and lawyers; why not also for those who essay the arduous and responsible functions of editor?

In the same manner as we would apply the ferula to scribbling school-boys, we would counsel the Muse of art and literary ambition to some more useful end. With few exceptions, the publications of these countries are ephemeral, and consequently of no case the present generation of leaving scarce a landmark in the history of the age. Fifty years of intellectual and free instruction have not produced as many standard works, treating of this republic, its resources, condition, or eminent men.

Argentines feel humbled that this vast, fertile and rich territory is so comparatively unknown in the Old World; yet, in truth, they have themselves acquainted with little more than the number of its provinces and inhabitants. Dean Funes left many interesting data about the interior; General Mitre gives a pleasing history of Belgrano's epoch; Sr. Domingues has contributed a valuable summary of Argentine annals; and the various authors of "Celebridades Argentinas" afford a national Plutarch of great merit. Andrews, Beck, Rodgers, Gillespie, Arrin, & Gen, Guido have also added to our literature. But, after these, all who have cast some light on the River Plate, are foreigners: Head, Darwin, Head, McCann, King, Page, Mousey and Gray. Attention has been, of late, much drawn towards these neglected regions, but foreigners are anxiously seek some information thereon. There is no gazetteer or geography of La Plata, although such a work would be vastly more precious than the biography of revolutionary heroes. Half the genius that is wasted on such trash as Fausto, Juan Fulgen, Leonor de Buenos Ayres, &c., would suffice to compile a treatise on the geology, resources, climate, natural features, instructions, history, habits, trade and statistics of the various provinces.

Let us visit the Senate-house; some of the deputies would make smart drapers' assistants, good accountants, or promising auctioneers; but flippancy will never supply the place of legal lore, nor patriotism enthusiasm that of wise experience. Here, as with the juvenile editors, some stripplings wax to become boys too soon, and only prove an abortion. Of course there are some senators of deep study and wide grasp of intellect, but the prominent feature is rhetoric rather than business, and unfortunately the legislative workmen are paid by the hour, not by the job, so that much time is frittered away. South America has never seen such a display of eloquence as we expect on the approaching question of ratifying the late elections: yet the abuse will continue, and hot-blooded young doctors will scramble for a seat in the Chambers, with the same indecent eagerness as for a ticket to the opera. We would willingly send the rivals to Coventry for a short time, that they might continue their studies in rustication; for there is no doubt they are a pushing and intelligent individuals, who would be all the better, on many occasion, by delaying that impetuosity which urges them to convince the publicof what they already themselves believe, that they are ripe for progress, and the welfare of the nation depends on their auspicious vote.

The moment which at present inundates our editorial arena, chokes up the channels of legislation, and lays waste our polling booths, might be converted into useful millraces, canal, or aqueduct, to give motion to our local industry, irrigate the fields of learning, or convey the healthy element of order to the rest of the republic.

SOUTH AMERICAN JUSTICE.

WHERE we had the satisfaction of bowing Dr. Acosta, in the Government house, with the iniquities perpetrated under his administration, the astute premier attempted to shirk responsibility, alleging that it was next to impossible to arrest a criminal in the camp.

When we ventured to hint that no precautions were taken by the rural authorities, and that assassins very often lived at large publicly, the surprised Minister looked indignantly.

Yet what we then boldly said and wrote, touching the Guardia Montenegro, is daily gaining confirmation. The Nacional and Nacion Argentina have plagiarised our bitterest invectives, to appear in the laudable guise of original articles. In a word, the murderers unexpected in many quarters, are irrefragable evidence of the laxity of the police, and the imbecility of our judicial administration.

We extract the following from yesterday's Nacion Argentina: "On the year 1855, the Justice of Zarate delivered over, to the Judge of 1. Instancia, a fellow who had two wives, living with a full report of the case, at the same time fining the dishonest purchaser 1008 for each hide stolen. Six years after the case was discovered and fined, and presented his passport to the Justice, who thereupon, wrote to the Government, declaring he had absolutely no jurisdiction over the matter, as a country where the agents of the law were accomplices in crime. Government, applied to the Chamber of Justice, who then ordered the Juez to re-capture and again hand over the criminal. The Juez replied that those who had been released could not be caught, and catch him, as he had already fulfilled his duty, and he would prefer, going to prison before such unconstitutional iniquities', once more. The chief was taken, though not by the Juez; showing that there are many expensive such blazes when the authorities trouble themselves; but at 17, of whom 7 were slaves, 1 was drowning the night. By day-light, the Juez, with a thousand men, was in pursuit of our principal man at the rest of Lima by Carranza's house, who was their leader, along with Miguel Rodriguez. Two were killed and wounded three days after, and 5 prisoners were taken, of which 2 were slaves. Send me a reinforcement or more, as I hear the enemy will be strong in number."

On the 2nd inst. the army from Cordova had reached the Tablada, and no more were expected that night. Colonel Carranza, had been murdered near the Tunas, by the troops under his command.

SAN LUIS & CORDOVA.

The Opinion publica of Cordova gives latest particulars of the desultory revolt in the interior.

On the 27th ult. D. Pedro Funes at the head of several armed insurrectionary things were tranquil in that district A letter from Cruz del Eje reports that and precaution, which has been used by the Federal and State Government, that country has suffered fearfully from its paper money and broken banks.

In the Argentine Republic, we remark a like mania springing up. In Cordova, San Juan, Salta, Santa Fe, and Entre Rios, new banks are talked of. We admit the utility of banks, we consider that every province should have one, and that the principal cause of the delusion in this Republic arises from the utter absence of capital, or institution to foster industry but speculation. Banks should be reserved to countenance these mushroom concerns which are projected in Entre Rios and elsewhere.

Without entering into the means, position, or qualifications of the parties whose names have appeared in public, we observe that they are working behind the scenes, in the hopes of getting the Entre Riano currency under their management, principally by the establishment of a bank which offers no guarantee whatever against the overissue of paper, and the inevitable fluctuations too long experienced in Buenos Ayres.

Put a paper Bank in Entre Rios, and the country will be flooded with a currency which will open a vista for emission to will be selling at a discount.

Put a paper Bank in Entre Rios, and we cease to deprive Revolutions of resources.

We do not by any means wish to insinuate that it is either the inclination or interest of the Urquiza family to foster the present order of things but, we oppose his possessing an overweening influence over the monetary affairs of the country, as it would be unjust to the Government, to whom he is not a shareholder, and will have it in his power, as a meeting of directors, to put any one attempting to say Boo! to a goose in Entre Rios, engaged by a certain party, well known both here and there, and ruled by a land of directors, of which Don Justo Carlos will be the head, inferior to the influence of Gen. Urquiza. The very idea is preposterous.

We hope that guided by a sense of honour and patriotism, the members of Congress will resist this ginger-bread banking scheme from their chamber, and that no influence, no matter how great will be sufficient to establish a Bank without capital, or a paper money without guarantee.

SKIRMISH IN CATAMARCA.

FOUR HOURS FIGHTING.

DEFEAT OF THE REBELS

The "Ferro-Carril" of Rosario, 8th inst. gives important news. On the evening of Saturday, 28th ult. General Nor Correa received intimation that the rebels under Aguero, Sisternas, and Llanes were assembling a force in Las Cheuras, to march on Catamarca against the Government, and sack the town Commander Rosales at the head of a company of 50 men, and Captain Ramirez set out at eleven P. M. to surprise the conspirators who were 14 in number. The fight was obstinate and bloody, and lasted four hours, but put the fire lasting or both sides until 4 A. M. when the insurgents fled precipitately towards Pueblo, to join Felipe Varela, tinder Governor of Rioja, Ad facutum of the reactionary party. The number of killed and wounded is not ascertained, but the troops entered Catamarca in triumph on Palm Sunday morning; and 9 A. M. or the same day the Governor got together a respectable force under Major Olmedo who started at once in pursuit of the fugitives. The universal opinion in Catamarca is that the rebels are terribly so long as Peñaloza remains in Rioja.

ENCOUNTER AT SAN JAVIER.

Major Paez of Cabana-bita, under date March 27th writes as follows: "Yesterday evening about sun-down, I learned that the rebels in San Javier had sent a force to molest my camp, and I set out to attack them, with 7 men to be in ambush, but they were surprised by the way, and I was obliged to attack in open country. I had 12 men and four firelocks, I fell during the night. By day-light I was on the enemy, and they on me. I had 7 men killed and wounded, and 5 prisoners, among whom is Colonel Rodriguez, who has since died. The rebels were 200 men with Cordova for the Lagos, and the northern provinces seem to be in a state of Peñaloza's intentions and movements.

It was rumored in Catamarca that Colonel Gomez had joined the rebels. Legislature refused to appoint a successor: others said that D. Marcelino Angier was named pro-tem that it seems all Rioja, Cuyo, Cordova still belong to Col. Felipe Varela in his return to Rioja met a picquet on the Catamarcan frontier placed to observe any invasion: the Governor has sent to ascertain the Almanez with a regiment of cavalry. The command of the latter is suspected of treachery, in failing to attack the rebels who are, however, all well armed and equipped.

Deputies from Tucuman relate that O'Mill remains inactive in that country, and the northern provinces seem ignorant of Peñaloza's intentions and movements.

It was rumored in Catamarca that Colonel Gomez had joined the rebels. Legislature refused to appoint a successor: others said that D. Marcelino Angier was named pro-tem that it seems all Rioja, Cuyo, Cordova still belong to Col. Felipe Varela in his return to Rioja met a picquet on the Catamarcan frontier placed to observe any invasion: the Governor has sent to ascertain the Almanez with a regiment of cavalry. The command of the latter is suspected of treachery, in failing to attack the rebels who are, however, all well armed and equipped.

Deputies from Tucuman relate that O'Mill remains inactive in that country, and the northern provinces seem ignorant of Peñaloza's intentions and movements.

LATEST PARTICULARS.

SANDES VICTORIOUS.

As is yesterday's supplement of the Tribuna, we read that Colonel Sandes overtook the rebels under Ontiveros at An Antonio de Nebo, on the 2nd inst. The bandits were defeated with great slaughter. Almost was taken among the dead, and Ontiveros left still in the field of battle. The pursuit had begun.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The public is to be stopped on Saturday night, if the bill is not paid by the Municipality. Mr Curell says that he will right the city for half the money, and the Municipality will give him the contract.

A land-broker in that remarkable province called La Plata, has applied to the Bank for a large quantity of notes to be issued and a gin. We have promised to supply the whole province gratis, on condition that there be no banks.

A grand ball will shortly be given in the new Hotel de la Paz, by 14 young ladies, for the benefit of orphans. We are informed, on high authority, that the Governor of the Province of Buenos Ayres.

Dr Pinedo's letter has been the talk of all great connexion among the gentle men in Paseo Julio. One party has called on us, and requests us to say that the master of the Mercedes, Lujan, was buried on the 25th March, whilst the Cousinera did not sail until the 27th, although the Dr plenty of time to announce his arrival, if he thought proper.

We learn that the attorneys of the Chuscenos Rail ay Company had an interview with the Governor, on Wednesday, and that there is every probability that the difficulties which have so unfortunately prevented them so all be ultimately removed. Gen Saavedra, we understand, is manoeuvres that the works should be commenced.

COURT GAIETIES IN FRANCE.

(FROM THE SPECTATOR).

The great Emperor Charles V. used to say, "Spanish look foolish and are wise; the Spaniards are foolish and look wise; the Portuguese look foolish, and so they are." Whether this distinction was apposite or not I must refrain from deciding; but this much I will say, that if we were to judge of the French nation by the French court, the world might be said to be what Charles V. thought they looked. It really borders on the incredible how many of the gaieties have been talked of in Paris last week. In the semi-fashionable and semi-official saloons the buzz of conversation was—and still is, almost entirely of fancy balls, and suppers, and masquerades, and fantastic dresses. Were Dangeau to revive, how many fine things he would have to chronicle about the stupendous fancy or masked balls given in succession, first by the Dronyn de Lhuys, then by the Emperor, then by Princess de Metternich, and finally by Madame Walewski! Nothing but costumes to a man's memory; and, it being one of the maladies of mankind to be greedy in the extreme of knowing that refers to the minute deeds of mortal divinities, a table to starve at must not be placed before the famishing public. Let us, therefore, put a score on record that the masked ball given of late at the Tuileries was splendid.

In the fact of the Emperor and Imperial Prince wearing the Venetian costumette, there is enough already to awaken the imagination of the reader; but pictures to yourself the surprise of the French animal as a doge's wife was when there was such a thing as a doge! Poor Venice, whose sole comfort for many a long year past of that Austrian yoke was to be free from the Alps to the Adriatic, it may be history has supplied the Empress with a fancy costume. Not less appropriate was the selection made by Princess Mathilde, who, being bitterly opposed to the Pope, were nevertheless, the costume of the celebrated Mathilde of the middle ages, who was at that time the beneficiress of the Sovereign Pontiff. Why Apollonia de Rudolstadt was dragged from the obscure her of a card of Prince and Salomon de Rothschild in the character of a nine bird, is a mystery as yet unravelled. After supper, Count Walewski Castiglione were seen crossing the rooms with a negro—the Duke de Chaseul—who carried the white of his eye in the form of a tea-cup, and a pair of pink satin embroidered with silver. This pantaloon, gave rise to the supposition that the Emperor was dressed as Othello, Shakespeare's heroine, the Carthaginian admiral, but history should not be falsified in such important matters. Had the Emperor been Othello, he would not be the outcome of a Roman matron, and being jet black, he would have had an aim then to exhibit as such—he could not have been the white of the face of the French. The attention of all thinking persons is certainly not directed to the fact that this ballet had been composed by Meyarbe for the opera, and rehearsed the day before at the Tuileries to another audience in accordance with which positively has a right to be made acquainted. The ballet was entitled "Le Prophete," and was performed with a studied display of splendour.

Centre pieces of fine wrought gold and silver adorned them, as well as baskets of flowers and palm-trees. An artist has been ordered to draw this decoration, that the fashion of the time may be handed down to posterity, and the coming generations may be favored with the unbridled homage to the wonders wrought by the Empire. The artist will have no doubt to do that. The Empress of evil fate of the Emperor is more than double the real fate of Louis Philippe's Queen Marie Amelie. The Empress is reported to have conjured him off very much. Le roi s'amuse. Why not? Count Rochechouart, I trust, will not give up the Ball. Was that performed by the Emperor, after all, a mean of pleasure. No heardsay Les Incidens au Bal Masque is more loud, and of a world of the very world. Long live the world, he thinks, perhaps, of himself, and, if he does, he is not unwardly disgusted the decadence of society—old-wife like Lachaute. It is but fair to say that he knows how to act a fine gallant to a lady, and I am sorry that, on the occasion of the recent marriage of Earl Cowley's daughter with Lord Royston, at the British Embassy, here was no fault to find with his courtesy. In this review of the of ficial diversions of the carnival, the ball given by Princess duMetternich is entitled to a full share of admiration. The ballrooms had been constructed for the occasion There was on each panel a magnificent looking-glass, richly ornamented with wax flowers, in which was reflected all the moving happiness of the hour. At the further end a sort of "bucn retiro" had been erected in the shape of a canopy composed of a golden treillage. There the Emperor and the Empress were received. Of the Princesses of the Imperial house, all of them more or less connected with the 2d December, suffice it to say that the most noticeable was a certain marquise, who startled about in the character of a vampire, with a bat on his head. The ladies claim to be mentioned less frequently. The Empress appeared in June, and her gown was, consequ-ently, spotted all over with the hundred eyes of Argus, which suggested to a saucy Parisian the following sharp sentiment, the idea that this was probably meant to express the importance so unmistakably imparted to the dress by the Imperial system. Princess de Metternich was a violet, strictly proper from Ground to Gown. Princess Mural was a snow storm. Madame de Kersaint was a river, the bed of which was worked in her dress, with a due a-count of rushes, shells, and fishes. Madame Walewska was a pack of cards.

LOCAL EVENTS.

HECTOR F. VARELA. The rumor is current, that M. Drouin de L'huys has intimated to "our absent friend" that he will not be received as Consul-General at the Imperial Court, but allowed to spend his "hours in Paris" as a private citizen.

THE ARGENTINE RACES will take place on Sunday at the Belgrano race course, a private one will take place on the same day between the horses of Messrs. Jones and Hutchinson.

WHITEWASHING.—For many years past it has been the custom to whitewash the fronts of the houses for the anniversary of independ nce 25th May.

This year as yet preparations are very limited, but there is yet time to continue and we hear a scarcity of labourers

NEW GOVERNOR.—The "Salvation Argentina" has published the following list of candidates in the order of their respective pref rence.

Dr. Manuel Ocampo
" Mariano Saavedra
" Dalmacio Velez
" Valentin Alsina.

MORON.—The municipality of the capital have notice a present to that of Moron of two small cannon, captured at the battle of Pavon, for the lighting of that town.

STONE.—Don Jos Xaray has contracted with the municipality, for the delivery of one thousand tons of stone at the yard of Martin Garcia at 8 pesos each.

THE TOWN. This little town desired to become a place of importance on the banks of the Parana which it is not.

The Government should subscribe a sum towards the construction, and we feel sure the residents will contribute freely.

At present there is little for the occupant of the first cemetery in that direction, and the Government should remove the Rosas Barracas or San Antonio to the Recoleta, and the expenses of a funeral are very large.

LITIGANTS.—This is the name of a new Law paper which will be published in this city very shortly. We hope this one will be successful, as former attempts have resulted in failures. We are sorry to hear that if Indians were to supersede, properly they are in a position to exceed any other nationality in the Province.

Hamburg brig Palma to load at Uruguay 6000 quintals jerked beef for Brazil at 4, 5, 6 ds and 5 per cent.
Rodriguez or Buenos Ayres can be had active to day and the rate is firm at 68 shillings
We do not know of any transactions in classified hides from this province.
It is not known whether the saladeros will kill during the winter in this place or the Uruguay; there are many facilities however that such will be the case in the Colonia.
Dutch schooner Justina chartered to load hides for New York at 10/4 patacones 5 per cent.
From Montevideo we learn the John Hillman chartered to load at Fray Bentos salted hides and tallow for orders at 50 shillings 5 per cent and carried off Cattle all per Angostura and Kanawha sold at 7 1/2 rls, 4 months.

Also 8000 arrobes mare's grease at 35 dollars without cask 27 pipes do at 35 dollars.
All the bones of the saladero of Peysandu whose sale we noticed the day before yesterday have been sold at 12 patacones per ton.
We notice the export for Mauritius and Bourbon of 150 sheep from Montevideo, this is we believe a new branch of exports and we learn likely to become a very important item, as the sheep in this country are of superior quality and much cheaper than those in South Africa.
Owing to the cheapness of beef and mutton in these countries, we remarked some time since that the English Government had ordered the supply for the island of St. Helena, to be purchased in the River Plate. We have not heard of any vessels having left or freed from that quarter, but it would be well that our neighbours should know that if we cannot export wheat or corn, we can supply all the Southern hemisphere with meat at a lower cost than elsewhere.
The business in saladero up the rivers is getting slack: in another month there will be scarcely a bone or a hide to be got. The saladeristas have done a very good business during this season, and have made more money than last year. The estancieros in Entre Rios in some parts sold at fair prices, but in Corrientes the landowners were unable to kill all the cattle offered them.
The bolivian currency we are told is improving again it had sunk considerably yesterday 1/00 at 21 2/5 per ounce
The complaints we hear against the multitude of coins, both silver and gold at present current, seem well founded. The heterogeneous nature of our coins is really perplexing, and should be remedied if possible, the individuals fluctuate with the ounce, but the sovereign and the franc are not only dependent on the rate of the ounce but also on the rate of exchange. Again although all these coins are at present current, still no man will exchange ounces for foreign gold without a premium. Gov. Saavedra, who has served so long a time to banking business, ought to introduce some plan to simplify these matters, before leaving office.
The trade auction at Messrs. Bates-Stokes which lasted for two days has terminated we have not received any exact note of the prices, but we learn that staple articles were the least saleable. The attendance on the first day was very respectable, and the bidding rather brisk, at least for a certain class of goods; but on the second day there was less animation and many articles had to be withdrawn. The Buenos Ayres market is far too limited for these trade auctions; without benefiting any save the auctioneer; it injures the business of the importers, who prefer private to public sale. One of the principal causes of these auctions, is the lack of provincial customers, who formerly cleared the importers' shelves of all old stock. Another very important matter to be considered in this auctioneering business is the auctioneer's own connection, which in the end lies more to do with the result of the sale, than even the quality of the goods, or the terms upon which they are offered. We understand that the sale in question, realized nearly one million currency.
The demand for money is becoming a little briskier, per se more looked after than even gold, which shows that the city tradesmen are, the applicants The private banks are doing a splendid business notwithstanding disturbances in the interior and the uncertainty about the elections, gold is declining.
We notice the departure of the Jacques Langlois on the 7th instant, this vessel is the bearer of a cargo of Oldenburg preparated at the saladero of Lucas Moreno in the Colonia, and sent to Valparaiso on speculation.

HEALTH AND CHEERFULNESS,

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS !!
Diseases of Head and Heart.
Were we to describe the various maladies which afflict the human frame, a dictionary would be required, and the mere recital of the names would fill a volume. Suffice it to say that there is scarcely a disease to which the human system is subject, from the slightest indisposition to the most malignant disorder, but what is mentioned in the above list of complaints, and to which we do not point with confidence as the means of a speedy cure.
Holloway's Pills are the best purifiers, and a few doses of them will prove a preventive of many of the diseases to which the human frame is liable.
Holloway's Ointment is a remedy for Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, Bad Wounds, Bad Sores, Bad Sore Throats, Bad Coughs, Colds, Piles, Fistulas, Gout, Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Tic Doloureux, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Scurvy, Scrofula, Glandular Swellings, Abscesses, Ulcers, Contracted and Stiff Joints, Bites of Mosquitoes, Sand Flies, Coco Bay Itch, Jigger, Barbadoes Leg, Yaws, Elephantiasis, Lepra, Sores of all kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Tumours, Tubercular Affections, Erysipelas, Fevers, Wounds of all kinds, Piles, Fistulas, Ulcers, Sore Throats, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption, Inflammation, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Secondary Symptoms, Stone and Gravel, Gout, Rheumatism, Female Irregularities, Fits, Giddiness, Nervousness, Headache, Tic Doloureux, Debility, Lumbago, Sciatica, Piles, Blotches on the Skin
